The Danville Police Department

Danville Police Department Administrative Staff

Police Chief
Colonel Philip Broadfoot

POLICE OPERATIONS

The Danville Police Department Operations Division is the largest section of the police department. It is also the one that most citizens come in contact through our various law enforcement activities. In 2009 this Division was responsible for most all of the 88,972 calls for service responded to by the Danville Police Department. The units of the division include the Patrol Unit, Community Police Unit, and Investigations Unit. This division is the face of the police department to most of the citizens. Most of the 9,713 traffic summonses and 3,811 criminal warrants issued were served by Operations officers. These officers also took the majority of the 8,692 reports written in 2009. As these numbers indicate police officers are very busy people indeed. This does not mean that the Danville Police Department has gone along with the ideal of "fast food law enforcement". The police officers employed here are interested in doing the best job possible for the citizens of Danville, and committed to making the city a safe place to live.

One such instance is demonstrated in the event detailed below;

At Approximately 9:06AM dispatch received a call that there was a propane gas leak from a 500-gallon tank at 329 Westover Drive Riverside Equipment. City of Danville Fire Department was dispatched to the scene. The gas tank was located outside and behind the business. At 09:17 The City of Danville Fire Department requested the assistance from the Danville Police Department to evacuate a circumference area from the gas tank of ¼ of a mile. A secondary Incident command was established by the Danville Police Department for evacuation efforts and coordination. Residential homes on Riverview Dr. as well as Westover Dr. within a ¼ mile radius had to be evacuated; the Pleasant View Apartment Complex had to be evacuated. The following businesses had to be evacuated The Westover Dr. United Postal Service Building – Danville Collision – El Vallarta Mexican Restaurant – International House of Pancakes. The Command Post was located at the west end of Sam's Club Parking Lot, all evacuated addressed were documented and logged in at the command post. An evacuation control and staging area was established in the parking lot of K-Mart.

Individuals that had to be relocated would receive updates and information on when it would be safe to return home. The evacuation area of ¼ mile and the effort it would take to relocate individuals within the affected area was a major incident that was conducted and completed within the time frame of 9:17AM Danville Police on the scene & 10:55AM when the incident was contained and it was cleared to allow homeowners and business persons to return to their respective homes and businesses.

This was a truly monumental task to have completed in less than two hours, events such as this are not typical in Danville however it is a typical example of the outstanding work carried out every day by the Danville Police Department.

POLICE SERVICES

The Danville Police Department Services Division continued to support the public service goals of the department by improving the efficiency of how police officers conduct law enforcement activities.

In 2009, twenty-two marked police units were equipped with Sierra Airlink cellular modems. These modems are a key piece of equipment vital to many different applications. The modems allow a constant connection to the department's computer databases. This has increased the field capabilities of the police officer exponentially. Officers now have the ability to fully utilize programs in their computers to their full potential. Programs like Linx, a database used to store multi-jurisdictional criminal justice information, and the Virginia Criminal Information Network are instantly available to officers in their vehicles no matter where they are. These databases allow officers to run vehicle, driver, and suspect information, including mugshots, at anytime.

The officers also remain in continuous contact with each other and with dispatch through the Mobile Data Browser program installed in the police vehicle computer. Officers can review all of the outstanding calls in the system. They can receive calls from Dispatch, acknowledge them by marking themselves in-route, and clear up from the call without touching the police radio. This has eliminated a large amount of radio traffic and the information sent is more secure due to the fact scanners cannot decode it. Information stored in the Computer Aided Dispatch can now be directly updated by police officers, ensuring more accuracy in that database. Mobile Data Browser allows officers to send text style messages car-to-car and back to dispatch or the patrol supervisor. Patrol supervisors can update the roll call page with bulletin information and alert information.

Another data sharing program called P2P (Police 2 Police) was brought on line. This program allows all law enforcement agencies using SunGard HTE as a vendor for their records management system to share the information contained therein. This system increases the number of agencies Danville officers can mine information from. This information is live and admissible in court, in contrast to that found in the Linx system which is 24 hours behind and not considered original information.

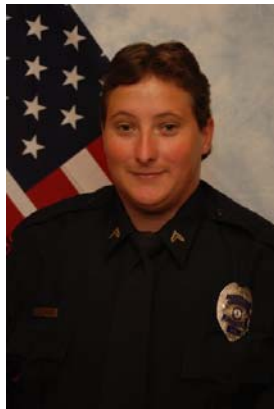

There are several other programs currently being evaluated for use. An automatic vehicle locator (AVL) program is currently in the final stages of implementation. Using AVL will allow officers, dispatch, and administration to be able to locate all active police vehicles on a map in real time. This will be a useful tool to increase officer safety. Dispatch will be able to look on the map and send the nearest available police car to a call, decreasing police response time. AVL can be configured to record police patrol patterns for later comparison to crime patterns.

Yet another solution being explored is the use of an e-ticket system. This system will allow officers to swipe a driver's license through a reader, enter offense information, and allow the driver to sign a screen. A ticket would print out like a retail receipt and be presented to the offender. The information would then be transmitted back to the police and court computer servers automatically. This would also increase officer safety because the officer would be able to limit the time he or she is distracted doing paperwork.

TECHNOLOGY HELPS NAB THIEF

The Danville Police Department recently applied for a $419,000 grant from Homeland Security to connect the records systems of twenty law enforcement agencies in Southside Virginia. The new system, called LINX for Law Enforcement Information Exchange, allows officers from each of the participating agencies to easily search the records of all the agencies via the internet. Several Danville Officers, including Sgt. Paul Deel, trained on how to use the LINX search engine program on August 18th. The next day an elderly woman reported that a man had taken her purse from her shopping cart in the parking lot of Sam's. Store video of the suspect showed a white male approximately 20 to 30 years old with black hair operating a Ford Explorer. Sgt. Deel decided to see what LINX could produce and entered those four parameters into the LINX search program. Within seconds he received 75 possible matches, two of which were from Danville. When Sgt. Deel looked at the mug shot photo of one of the Danville matches, it closely resembled the man in the store video. Further investigation confirmed the identity of the suspect as Daniel Ray Utterback and led to his arrest and recovery of the purse. Utterback also was charged with a similar purse snatching from another elderly woman in the Wal Mart parking lot on August 17th.

The search engine capability of the LINX system greatly enhances the ability of police officers to share information and solve crimes. The LINX system connects with other similar systems around the state and nation, allowing officers to search far beyond Southside Virginia if necessary. The LINX system will be available to officers in the field through the laptop computers mounted in the patrol vehicle.

NEWS CONFERENCE

Chief Philip A. Broadfoot
Danville Police Department
July 22, 2009

During the fall of 2008 and the first several months of 2009, larcenies and burglaries in the City of Danville increased significantly. The increases were concentrated in the Druid Hills, Almagro and Beverstone neighborhoods, alongside Kemper Road, Piney Forest, Arnett Boulevard, Westover Drive and Riverside Drive, and in the parking lots surrounding the walking trail. The initial investigations revealed that these crimes were likely being committed by several different suspects or groups of suspects.

In March of 2009, a departmental task force was formed to focus on solving these crimes. The task force consisted of Sergeant H. S. Richardson, Detective D. C. Ferguson, and Officers S. M. Crews, K. L. Shackett, and J. L. Perkins. Their instructions were simple - find out who was committing these crimes and arrest them. The purpose of the news conference today is to recognize their outstanding work.

After the task force was established in March, a pattern of breaking into north Danville businesses in the Piney Forest Road, Arnett Boulevard, and Riverside Drive areas became apparent from the end of April through the beginning of June. Corell DaMain Jeffries was developed as the suspect in these burglaries and was charged with 11 burglaries or attempted burglaries. The businesses victimized and the charges made against Jefferies are as follows:

- ⊙ Burglary and 3rd offense larceny at 339 Piney Forest Road, ERA Holley and Lewis Realty, which occurred on 04-22-09

Woodlawn Baptist Church on Westover Drive was the victimized once. Fairview United Methodist Church on Westover Drive and Brush Arbor Baptist Church on Blair Loop Road were victimized twice.

The task force determined that two main groups were involved in a majority of the other reported burglaries. The first group consisted of James Shawn Sarver, Jennifer Ann Rowland, and Gabriel Paul Cox. The investigation revealed that James Sarver and Jennifer Rowland were the ringleaders and were responsible for numerous larceny offenses throughout Danville between December 2008 and their arrest on March 25, 2009. The majority of the larcenies took place in the parking lots that citizens used to access the walking trails in Dan Daniel and Ballou Parks and beside Riverside Drive and the Community Market. Sarver and Rowland worked as a pair to steal from parked vehicles. They then used the credit cards and identifications found in the stolen purses to make fraudulent purchases at area businesses. The pair was also found to be responsible for other burglaries dating back to 2006. James Sarver was charged with a total of 70 burglary, larceny, or credit card related offenses. Jennifer Rowland was charged with a total of 56 similar offenses and Cox was charged with one larceny offense. The investigation also led to additional charges against the pair in Pittsylvania, Halifax, and Charlotte Counties. Search warrants obtained as a result of this investigation led to the arrest of three more individuals. Richard Howard Whitstyne and Corey Washington were arrested and charged with possession of stolen property received from Sarver and Rowland. Whitstyne was also charged with possession of cocaine with intent to distribute. The third individual arrested was Ghulam Hassan, the proprietor of PAK's Supermarket on Westover Drive. A stolen air compressor, saw, and two nail guns were recovered from the supermarket and Hassan was charged with twenty counts of possession of untaxed cigarettes after an undercover operation there on April 9, 2009.

The second group was responsible for numerous residential burglaries along Westover Drive, Kemper Road and in the Druid Hills, Almagro, and Beverstone neighborhoods of Danville. Interviews of several suspects led to the discovery of a local gang, called "The Runners", who operated as a "Bloods" criminal street gang. The Runners had been in existence since the summer of 2008 and were working in conjunction with "West Mo", another Bloods criminal street gang. The Runners operated mainly from the Druid Hills neighborhood and WestMo operated from the Westmoreland neighborhood. Nine juvenile members of The Runners have been arrested to date. The nine juveniles associated with the gang have been charged with a total of 33 counts of burglary, 33 counts of grand larceny, 1 count of possession of a firearm as a convicted felon, 14 counts of criminal street gang participation, and 1 count of recruiting a juvenile into a criminal street gang. The Runners and West Mo gangs also included adult members who either participated in the burglaries or were responsible for selling the stolen property. The gang started their burglaries in their own neighborhoods and then branched out to other parts of the City. The younger gang members would walk through a neighborhood and select homes where no one appeared to be home. They would knock on the door and if someone answered, they would politely ask for someone by name, ask for a drink of water, or ask for directions. If they discovered that no one was at home, they would forcibly enter and steal money, firearms, TV's and electronic items. The stolen items either were carried away, hidden nearby for later retrieval, or immediately loaded into a waiting vehicle. The gang members sold the property on the street or fenced it to several individuals who in turn would take it to local pawn shops or second hand stores. Some of the property stolen by these two criminal street gangs was recovered from the pawn shops and second hand stores and returned to the owners.

Eight adult members associated with the two gangs have been charged with a total of 44 offenses that included burglary, larceny, gang participation, firearms violations and malicious wounding. The eight adults are Tremon Wimbush, DeAnthony McMoore, Karlec Larico Metts, Reginald Robertson, Jerrod Allen Jamal Wimbush, James Lloyd Williams II, Tyler Jamar Turner and Lamberth Powell. The investigation into the Bloods gang activities and the crimes they are believed to be responsible for is ongoing. More charges in relation to their activities are expected. Many of the suspects charged in all of these crimes have already been prosecuted in court and convicted.

For background information, in 2003 the Danville Police Department announced that gang activity had been detected within the city and embarked on a program of educating parents, children, and school personnel about gangs. I am particularly impressed with the support that our local school system has provided since that announcement. School administrators have taken a no tolerance stance against gang signs, clothing, activity, and graffiti. I believe those actions contributed more than anything else to the suppression of gang activity in Danville during the last six years. During the past six years we have monitored a number of gangs as they have started up, grown, disbanded or fallen apart. All of the gangs have a neighborhood or geographic basis. The gang begins as a collection of friends and acquaintances in a neighborhood and then establishes a name, signs, clothing, tattoos or entry criteria. While members of the gangs have constantly engaged in various individual criminal acts, we have been unable to prove until now that the gangs themselves engaged in concerted and overt criminal activity. It is this collective criminal activity that makes participation in a gang illegal and allows law enforcement to take specific action against a gang.

Beginning in 2008 we noticed the first signs of significant criminal activity by neighborhood gangs. These gangs were heavily involved in the distribution of drugs and the use of violence and firearms to accomplish these crimes. We were able to arrest some members for various individual offenses but were unable to obtain the necessary evidence to make criminal street gang charges. It was not until the creation of this task force that we were able to gather the evidence and identify thirty members of The Runners gang and disable it significantly by making numerous arrests. The leader of The Runners, who was also a member of WestMo, was identified by numerous gang members as 18 year old Tremon Wimbush. Because many people were frightened of Wimbush and afraid to testify, we were initially unable to develop a criminal case against him. Nevertheless, we continued to keep pressure on the gang. On July 2nd Corporal Todd Hawkins noticed Wimbush in a group of men at Cedar Terrace Apartments and arrested him for drunk in public. When Corporal Hawkins searched him, he discovered a stolen .45 caliber pistol in his waistband and $1,300 in counterfeit currency. A crowd of bystanders interfered and tried to prevent the arrest, but Hawkins called for backup and was able to keep the crowd away from his prisoner. Wimbush was released on bond for these charges and became a person of interest in a number of subsequent shooting incidents throughout the city. It was not until the tragic murder of Latoya Hubbard, an innocent bystander, on Ross Street on July 11th that we were able, with the help of the Commonwealth's Attorney's office, to bring a major criminal charge of malicious wounding against Wimbush and an accomplice, DeAnthony McMoore. I am hopeful that Wimbush's arrest will bring an end to his spree of violent activities and the fear that he has inflicted on the citizens of Danville and particularly the residents of Ross Street.

The members of this task force have had phenomenal success in solving these crimes. All together they made 283 adult charges and 92 juvenile charges, for a grand total of 375 criminal charges in the short space of just over four months. They worked hard, they put in many hours, they worked around the clock, and they succeeded beyond all expectations. Gentlemen, on behalf of the Danville Police Department and the citizens of Danville, thank you. It is my privilege to present to each of you a Departmental Commendation recognizing your exceptional work on the task force. Congratulations.
