Danville Police Department 2015: Year in Review

The 2015 highlights of the Danville Police Department were:

- The slight increase in specific crime rates
- Continued expansion of directed patrol techniques
- Continued enhancement and upgrades to our information systems and equipment

Colonel Philip A Broadfoot
Chief of Police

Crime Continues to Trend Down

Preliminary figures on crime reported in 2015 depicted very slight increases in select crime reporting categories with major reductions in others. The most significant increase was the six homicides for 2015. There were reductions in other major crime categories such as burglary, and aggravated assault with burglaries down by 69 and aggravated assaults down by 5. Reported robberies were slightly elevated, as were larcenies, motor vehicle thefts, forcible sex offenses and arson.

Danville Police Department 2015: Year in Review

The overall total of these reported offenses increased marginally from 1,995 in the previous year to 2,048 in 2015. The next few pages will detail the overall crime rate as well as provide graphical depiction of where we stand for the ten year comparisons.

With the City of Danville implementing an open data initiative to increase transparency, the Police Department began exploring ways to engage the community and promote department wide transparency as a way to increase services, and strengthen community engagement as well as involvement. One way the Department provided this transparency was through our enhanced use of social media outlets as communication tools. The Department successfully adopted and launched pages on Twitter, Facebook and Nextdoor as a means of promoting transparency and as a way to engage the public on a different platform. We are enthusiastic about these media outlets and look forward to navigating them with even more success in 2016. Additionally the City of Danville's website took on a new look that also promoted the transparency protocol under the direction of City Manager Joe King and our City Council.

Calls for Service Ten Year Trend

NOTE: Due to the implementation of a new Computer Aided Dispatch System (RMS) in late 2012, certain previously defined calls for service were either deleted or blended into the new format. Additionally, Computer Aided Dispatch protocol prompts the telecommunications staff with a series of questions and answers so the end result for the call (CFS) is dependent upon the data input.

Directed Patrol

2015 brought the Department-wide directed patrol techniques into sharper focus as concentrated efforts were applied to specific areas where the timely analysis of selected crimes provided a strong probability platform for the potential of re-occurring events. By using location and time data on reported crimes, supervisors were able to direct proactive patrols into geographic areas with higher probabilities of crime occurrence. This program proved effective as we experienced a noted drop in our residential burglaries, ending the year at 325 which was down from 2014 where we ended with 394. The Department continues to work toward using data to more efficiently to direct patrol activities, to include taking the steps to hire a full time crime analyst under a newly acquired grant program. As the Department moves into 2016, plans are well underway to implement the crime analysis program as a major component of our future endeavors. This process will also leverage the deterrence value of highly visible patrol and enforcement actions.

In the fall of 2014 the Department began transmitting eSummons data to the Virginia Supreme Court and early in 2015 we began using the printer hardware in the vehicles to issue citations. The eSummons project has improved efficiency by reducing the time it takes an officer to issue a traffic summons, which has significantly reduced or eliminated the duplicate keying of information into systems by our Records Office and court personnel. Additionally, the implementation of this project has greatly improved document legibility and accuracy. This initiative was funded with a planned capital improvement project.

Ten Year Warrant Trend

The Danville Police Department handles warrants many ways. Officers obtain warrants for crimes they are assigned to investigate or officers serve warrants obtained by other parties such as private citizens or other law enforcement agencies. The management of these documents falls to the Police Records Division. Once a warrant is obtained, it is entered into the Records Management System (RMS) and is tracked from entry to service. Warrants are also entered into the state and/or national wanted persons data base. Our warrant totals generally average in the thousands and range in subject matter from unpaid parking tickets to murder. The graph below depicts a ten year trend in warrants handled by the Danville Police Department.

A Glimpse Into The Future

Departments that continue to find and implement emerging and innovative technology and operational best practices, are better able to serve their community when they bring those resources to bear. The tasks of prevention, investigation, apprehension and record keeping will always be with us. The ability to harness and manage the technologies of the future will be a defining aspect of the measure of our success. The City of Danville Police Department enthusiastically embraces our future as we continue to serve the Dan River Region. The men and women of the Danville Police Department are proud to serve the Danville community and look forward to their continued support during 2016.
